Present position Court Manager at Surveillance Court of Rome
[Dirigente del Tribunale di Sorveglianza di Roma]

Main activities and responsibilities As a Court Manager, my position involves administrative, managerial, and public relations work, with the responsibility for planning, organizing, staffing, coordinating, directing, and evaluating the administrative functions of a Jurisdictional Office of the Italian Republic (be it of the Judicial or the Prosecutorial branch), in strict coordination with a President of a Court or a Chief Prosecutor. As chief of human resources I have the responsibility of supervise and training a work force of around 100 people including state employees (court's clerks), judiciary police, and contract (and volunteer) personnel performing supervisory, technical, casework, security, and clerical functions, providing assistance to 18 judges and 45 lay experts on probation. I have disciplinary power over all civil servants depending from the Ministry of Justice, for all misdemeanours, in the name of the Ministry. I'm as well responsible of occupational safety and health administration (Law 626): I'm the chief negotiator with Trade Unions for all local matters. My administrative duties involve the responsibility of ensuring: the use of appropriate and up-to-date technology and logistics; the maintenance of accurate court records; the timely scheduling and preparation of court hearings; the preparation, distribution and filing of court documents such as notices of decision, court orders and verdicts; the military security of the court buildings. As financial and fiscal agent I'm in charge: of e-procurement of capital goods and services; of the payment of justice expenses (reimbursement of witnesses, judicial police, experts, forensics, wiretappings) of which I'm responsible directly to the National Court of Auditors (fonctionnaire deleguée), and of the collection of justice fees. My public relations work include: ensuring the provision of courteous and professional assistance to all who use the court; representing my Office in maintaining effective working relationships with other Jurisdictional offices, the Bar, law enforcement agencies, representatives of the media, prison officers and social service agencies, local authorities such as the Mayor and the Government's Provincial Representative (Prefetto); receiving foreign delegations. As local representative of the Ministry of Justice: my offices are also administrative branches of the MoJ on the territory, and as such, I have the duty to enforce orders of the Central Administration, and to provide citizens the issuing of public certifications.
